Ways the money just goes

So hard to keep the nest egg thickly thatched when the fiduciary temptations are so appealing. M inc. magazine offers a few examples of where our money goes:

■ Americans spend $20,900,000,000 each year on gardening supplies, including equipment and plants. That's an average of $284 per household.

■ Major-league baseball teams buy 600,000 balls every season, with a retail value of $7,200,000. A ball's average life span is between five and seven pitches.

■ The average price of a nose job is $3,750. (Nose jobs at the Moscow Cosmetological Clinic cost $50.)

■ Manhattan's Maxilla & Mandible Ltd. sells human skulls for up to $800. Male baboon skulls are a relative bargain at $375.
